ZION'S JOURNEY

ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH

IN-BETWEEN TIME

In the church, we often talk about living in an “in between time”. We are in between the time when Christ ascended to heaven and a future time when Christ will return again, when all things will be put right and sin and death and dying will be no more. This is a promise God has given to us. Sin, death, and evil are very present realities. But one day, they will no longer be. In the meantime, though, we live in a kind of holy waiting time, an interim time, when we are at work in the world, continuing to proclaim God’s unconditional love and mercy, and also living into the hope of all that God has promised is in store for us.

Debie Thomas wrote about interim time a couple years ago in The Christian Century:

Though the life of faith is often described in terms of joyful arrivals and culminations, in reality we spend a lot of our time in between. Though we know that Good Friday gives way to Easter, we live our lives on Holy Saturday, waiting for the fullness of resurrection’s promise to unfold. Sometimes it feels as if the whole planet is straining with impatience, yearning for something better. Sometimes I wonder if in-betweenness is the quintessential human condition. (<https://www.christiancentury.org/article/faith-matters/learning-embrace-between-time>)

As a church, we are experiencing a kind of in-between time right now, between the usual patterns of our congregational life together as we experienced them before the pandemic and what those patterns will look like once all of our pandemic concerns have finally eased. Even though it sounds like kind of a contradiction, this is an active waiting time. And during this time, we continue to have an opportunity to experiment with new things.

One thing we’re “trying out” during the Easter season is a Wednesday evening service. The praise band has been leading music for our midweek evening services during Lent, and they will continue to lead at a Wednesday contemporary service in April and May. This will still be a shorter service—about 35 minutes long. The worship time will shift to 6:15 p.m. and the Zion women/fellowship group will continue providing grab-n-go meals after worship.

This gives us a chance to gauge if there is continued interest in and need for a Wednesday evening service. At the end of the May, our worship committee and council plan to evaluate to determine if the midweek service should continue or not. Of course, our Sunday morning traditional service at 8:30 will continue during this time as well.

In God’s Grace + Peace,
Pastor Erin

It's Time for a Makeover!—The Youth Committee wants to update the youth space and needs your input! On Wednesday, April 21st following the worship service (about 6:45 pm), the committee would like to meet with all students and parents in grades 5-11 to propose options for the youth room refresh. We will show you the room, explain different color and paint options, and look at different furnishings and layouts for the space. We will also share other updates and youth activities we have in the works. If you cannot make it to the meeting but would like to see the options, please call the church office (225-6755) and talk to Sandra.

BECAUSE EVERYTHING YOU HAVE IS ALREADY HIS.
BE GRATEFUL.

Bob Goff, Live in Grace—Walk in Love

*He is before all things, and in him all things hold together.
Colossians 1:17*

There it was—the loud, bold heading of my devotions for the day from a favorite book. It's never a deep theological discussion, but always challenging and straight to the point. And that day wasn't any different. "At every point, whether we've known it or not, God has protected us and sustained us. Our good behavior didn't earn it, and our failures haven't ruined it.....We wake up to new days, we take our next breath, we dream some dreams because of God's grace. We did nothing to earn any of this.

"God doesn't want anything from you, because everything you have is already God's. If you want to dazzle God, give thanks by sharing what you've been given. Freely, with gratitude. No strings attached."

So.....what if I didn't earn it? What if my hard work doesn't mean I deserve it? Why did God choose me as manager of the resources I've been chosen to steward? What if God put me in this place and position for a purpose? If you're asking some of these same questions and thinking about how your life can make a difference, Lutheran Planned Generosity of SD was created as a resource for you. We have tools and information to build a plan that honors your faith and your family, and expresses your gratitude through generosity. For more information, call Kathy McHenry at 605.274.5030, email kmchenry@sdsynod.org or visit our website at www.lpgsd.org.

The Social Concerns committee is gauging interest in putting together a group for this walk supporting the DTOM 22/0 foundation. If you are interested in walking in this fundraiser as a representative of Zion, please email Nicole Schutter at: Nicole.Schutter@yahoo.com. There are three different distances: a 1-mile walk; a 13 mile walk (with a bus to the end), and the full 26.2 mile march. FROM THE BISHOP'S DESK

Siblings in Christ of the South Dakota Synod,

He has risen! He has risen indeed! - You may hear others say about us that we are "Easter People". What does that mean? It means that we believe and trust that death does not have the last Word. And that is true for all areas of our daily life. As Easter people we know that death never has the last Word. In fact as Easter People we come to know death as painfully excruciating because of Good Friday, but in spite of our pain we know and believe that in the midst of our pain God is at work calling forth life where the world has closed the book and calls it quits.

When others walk away from the grave, Easter People stay and wait for it only to become witnesses to God's amazing power and then we go tell. As we marked the anniversary of the Coronavirus pandemic last month and reminisce about last year's unorthodox Easter celebration, we have been presented with an opportunity to show up as God's people outside our buildings. We have not turned away from those who have died or experienced losses of all kinds. No, we have shown up in many ways. Thank you, dear South Dakota Synod, for showing up, for being Easter People who trust and believe, that life is already waiting to spring forth when all we see is loss. Faith is to hope for things that are yet unseen. South Dakota Synod, we will not need to "go back to normal", we will not even try to find a "new normal". But we will boldly live into God's future by continuing to show up proclaiming the good news of Jesus, the Christ. Alleluia!

Journeying in Christ with you,

Rev. Constanze Hagmaier

Bishop of the South Dakota Synod, ELCA
